

San Francisco State University
Iranian Cultural Club Present

Iranians on the Internet

A one-day gathering for Bloggers and Internet
Gurus in Northern California

Saturday, September 22nd, 2007
9:30 AM – 4:00 PM

Rosa Parks Hall
Cesar Chavez Building
San Francisco State University
1600 Holloway Avenue, San Francisco, CA

IRANIAN.COM
- NOTHING IS SACRED

In the Internet age, publishing has become democratized. Many Iranians in different parts of the world have joined this movement and are expressing themselves through blogs and community websites. For Iranians living outside of Iran, blogs have helped build communities, creating a sense of identity that surpasses borders.

This day-long event is bringing together bloggers and internet professionals of Northern California. There will be a chance to listen to them and learn about what they write.

For More Information Please Contact:
Iraniansoninternetsf@hotmail.com